HOPPER FLOW - SUZO-HAPP

THE Hopper Flow is the latest addition to the coin pay-out hopper family from Suzo-Happ. This single denomination hopper requires no adjustments if the coin denomination changes. The challenge is to maintain a high payout rate and the experience and knowledge of the Suzo-Happ development team has solved this problem – the Hopper Flow can pay out up to seven coins per second. Three different bowl sizes (standard, medium and large) give gaming manufacturers further flexibility to ensure that the correct coin capacity can be stored. The Hopper Flow is also available with AES protocol for the Italian Comma 6a market.

QUIKKER - APEX GAMING

QUIKKER is the perfect example of how innovation can set a company apart from the competition in the market, its creator Apex Gaming states. "Being both a manufacturer and operator of gaming solutions, Apex has in-depth understandings of player psychology. It takes much experience and the right feeling for the market to introduce something completely new." Quikker is a card game that takes the best from two other table games - roulette and poker - to provide a completely new gaming experience. Quikker has been designed to be intuitive to play, so simple to understand with a high entertainment value. Quikker is available in different formats, either completely electronic, semi-electronic or live.

PERFORMER GRAND ARC - AMATIC INDUSTRIES

THE Performer Grand Arc is the latest addition to the gaming cabinet family at Amatic Industries. It features wide-screen monitors, the latest sound technology, first-rate components – all of which have been integrated into a curved design. The Performer Grand Arc is available with either two monitors or three monitors, whereby the curved effect stands out better. Naturally Amatic's complete games selection can be played on the Performer Grand Arc. The Performer Grand Arc was introduced to the market at the ICE exhibition in London back in January and has since then gained great momentum.

HARPOON LAGOON - ICE

FEATURING a 47ins LCD monitor boasting impressive graphics, the four-player Harpoon Lagoon game from ICE challenges players to skillfully shoot harpoons at the various fish that appear on screen.

Players must anticipate when the hidden jellyfish will come out of a treasure chest in order to win the super bonus. The cabinet, which requires relatively little floor space and is at a child-friendly height, also features LEDs in each corner of the game to create a glowing and "floating effect" to attract players. "Operator-friendly double ticket bins, easy setup and precise operator controls make this an easy decision for any location," the company said.

FUNFAIR BASH - UNIS

"ROLL up... Roll up... The carnival is here!" – so says UNIS, with its latest release, Funfair Bash. This fun fair themed redemption game offers a series of traditional ball tossing games, with the level of difficulty increasing as players progress through different stages. Successfully completing all five stages ensure players win the big prize. The games challenge players to try to hit different targets that appear on a screen with colourful soft balls. Scenes include clowns, stacked milk bottles and rolling barrels. They can win tickets throughout, but must be careful not to lose them at the last game, which includes a countdown timer.
